CANCIAN PAVIMENTI

PAVIMENTI IN TERRAZZO VENEZIANO

MIMESIS PROJECT

INNOVATION

If the traditional art of the Cancian's Venetian terrazzo was already reinvented in new forms of expression through prefabricated floors in Terrazzo and made-to-measure Palladiana, today it goes further. These formats allow you to operate throughout the world by satisfying all possible requests, having however a single limitation: the formats negate what is the peculiarity of the traditional terrazzo, i.e. a perfectly continuous surface without joints.

With the MIMESI project, Cancian confirms the production of formats that can be easily handled and installed but also introduces a design that is able to hide joints, enhancing the decorative pattern.

QUADRO

The square: the shape designed to be more commonly used in everyday life. The straight lines and right angles that form it give a sense of reliability and safety but also of simplicity and solidity. Hence, the desire to study new and exciting forms...

OBLIQUO

The trapezoid: this shape gives a sense of resistance and strength but also conveys a futuristic aura. It helps to capture people's attention faster by being easily attracted to the unusual. Furthermore, the articulated geometric pattern it forms keeps the eyes engaged

ONDA

The curve: People are known to respond more positively to the presence of a curve rather than to a straight line. If the latter is rigid and immovable, a curved line is smooth and fluid and for this very reason, seeing it makes us feel calm and relaxed. Thanks to its fluidity, it allows the viewer to explore the image casually without straining the eyes

QUADRO

The pattern of the Venetian Terrazzo is overlapped with a square matrix one having a high decorative value, able to conceal the physiological gap created by laying regular slabs and indeed also enhance a design that looks as if it was made on purpose. The final result is a geometric decoration able to give the room an orderly and easy-to-understand look

OBLIQUO

The same decorative texture is also proposed on two sides of the new trapezoidal shapes proposed. Its purpose, in addition to being aesthetically appealing, is always to hide the joints between one slab and another

ONDA

Even for these wavy shapes there is a decorative texture on two sides of the same shape. This creates a floor that is totally out of the ordinary but extremely fluid and elegant thanks to its soft and sinuous shapes
